

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

AN AUTHENTIC RECORD

(October 1868 to December 1870.)

New York :
M. M. ZARZAMENDI, TRANSLATOR & PRINTER, 40 & 42 BROADWAY.
1871.

Now that the "Tiger of Jiguaní" the rival of Haynau and Mourawief has succeeded through the influence of the volunteer rabble in climbing to the position of Captain General of the Island of Cuba, we deem it advantageous to exhibit to the people of the United States for their consideration a rough sketch of the carnival of blood, that has taken place in Cuba during the government of Generals Lersundi, Dulce and Caballero de Rodas.

We will exhibit first a catalogue of the persons murdered in cold blood by order of the Spanish Government of Cuba; leaving out of consideration the killed on the battle field. We give with the name of each victim the source, in the most part spanish, from which we have taken the data.

We will also give a list of the names of those captured by the spanish troops with arms in their hands since the 1st of March 1869, taking them always from spanish sources. We have selected that date because on the 12th of February a decree was issued and published in all the papers in Cuba, to shoot all the insurgents captured with arms in their hands. In this list we only include the names of those whose execution has not been noticed in the newspapers, and of whom no mention has ever been made; but knowing as we do the law and the savage character of the rulers in Cuba, it is easy to understand what their fate has been.

The third list comprehends those condemned to death in the garrote by a military commission sitting in Havana but not executed on account of being out of the reach of the spanish hangman.

It will be well to bear in mind also that we always read in the spanish reports that "Such a column has scoured such and such a territory and killed so many insurgents." Habitually the killed are poor, harmless and defenceless peasants forced out of their houses and brutally murdered.

We adjoin also a note of those delivered by the Captain General to the military courts as guilty of treason. We do not know the exact fate of those unfortunates. It is known however, that many of them have mysteriously dissappeared, and their families are sure that they have found an obscure grave in the burial grounds of the Cabaña or el Príncipe.

We do not pretend to give a table of the crimes committed in Havana and elsewhere, such for example as those at the theatre of Villanueva, the coffee house of the Louvre, the butchery of Cohner, Greenwald and many like cases: or the transcendently treacherous killing of Augusto Arango under a flag of truce. Neither shall we attempt to catalogue the murders committed by the brutal soldiery in the country, the indiscriminate slaughter of defenceless men, women and children, the rapes, the obscene mutilations and the cruelties of every kind perpetrated in our unhappy country by the scourges of America: those are personal crimes which we do not deem just to charge upon a whole people.

In another list shall be found the names of those condemned to hard labour in the chain gang of the penal colonies of Africa or of Cuba, many of them men of high standing who, often old and infirm, have been unable to endure the hardships and brutalities of their overseers and have been brought to an untimely death.

In another we publish the names of the infortunate men sent to Fernando Poo, a barren and unhealthy island in the coast of Africa, a large number of whom perished on account of the bad treatment received on their voyage thither.

Next will be found a catalogue of those exiled from their homes to different countries by order of the spanish authorities; excepting the first four lists all the other are very incomplete, as the spanish censor permitted only for a few months the publication in their own papers of the crimes perpetrated in Cuba by Modern Spain.

We have not considered necessary to present the catalogue of persons whose property has been confiscated. We may only say that it reaches already the number of seven thousand, a thousand of whom are ladies whose only crime is to be natives of Cuba and possessed of large properties there.

It is sought by some persons in this country to show that the cubans have exhibited the same ferocity as the spaniards in their conduct of the war, and that they have been uniformly as sanguinary and merciless as their adversary, uniformly as regardless of humanity as even Valmaseda. The allegation is utterly unfounded and grossly unjust to the cubans, as those who make or credit it might easily satisfy themselves. In the very outset of the Revolution a considerable number of officers and men fell into the hands of the patriots, in Bayamo and elsewhere in the Oriente. All were spared without exception, and every effort was made by the cuban chiefs to carry on the war in accord with the christian spirit of the age. Many of these captives officers having taken their parole not to escape, have broken that parole, and became the most ruthless and unsparing of all the spanish officers in the war. Some also pretending to sympathize with the Revolution, took service under it and were trusted. Those for the most part betrayed their trust, deserted on the first opportunity, and like those who had broken their paroles, became conspicuous for their ferocity.

Meanwhile in all parts of the island no cuban taken prisoner of war was spared; to a man they were shot on the spot as so many dogs. Nevertheless up to August 1869 many spanish prisoners of war were captured and not executed by the Cubans. It was them that General Quesada endeavoured to bring the enemy to an agreement on the subject and addressed General Lesca a note to that effect. This note was published in the New York papers.

The reply was a verbal brutal characteristic assertion of the spanish adherence to the policy of shooting all prisoners of war; leaving the cubans no other alternative than the stern measure of retaliation, which for a time, with many exceptions, was adopted on the cuban side.

In October 1869 General Quesada after having brought the matter to the notice of the cuban Congress ordered that certain prisoners of war who has voluntarily taken service in the cuban army, in number of 67 should be executed they having been detected in a conspiracy to revolt under circumstances of peculiar treachery, these men were accordingly executed; in a report of the affair made by General Quesada in 1870, by some error, the number was swollen to 670 or 603 more than were actually executed. The act excited a good deal of hard criticism in this country from the Press, in Congress and even by the President of the United States and the execution of so many men is cited as conclusive evidence of a blood-thirsty spirit in the cubans quite equal to that of the enemy. Those who have taken that view surely overlook that the men in question were shot not as prisoners of war for that they have long ceased to be, as they had taken service under the Republic and were detected in a conspiracy to desert to the enemy; therefore even had the number of those men been 670, their execution would have been a justifiable act of war. *

As to the causes of this execution we prefer to give spanish evidence, namely on account of the transaction from the Diario de la Marina of the 24th March of 1870, which we translate: "All the officers, sergeant and corporals who were in the hands of the enemy have been shot. In connection with many cubans they had planned a counter-revolution and had conceited the delivery of all the rebel chieftains to General Puello. Two days before the one appointed by this gallant general to commence his march, he sent a messenger to captain Troyano with the news of his advance.—The bearer of the news was arrested however and searched, the letter was found, and on the following day the messenger, our officers and the cubans compromised in the counter-revolution were shot, thus sealing with their lives their devotion to their beloved mother country."

Thus it is plain what those men designed to do. What the laws of war adjudge as the punishment of officers convicted of such crimes will be found in any writer of international law whatever his nationality may be.

We deem proper to append some documents and extracts of documents, and papers, almost all from spanish origin, which explain very forcibly the kind of war made by the Spaniards in Cuba.

COUNT VALMASEDA'S PROCLAMATION.

Inhabitants of the country! The re-enforcements of troops that I have been waiting for have arrived; with them I shall give protection to the good, and punish promptly those that still remain in rebellion against the government of the metropolis.

You know that I have pardoned those that have fought us with arms; that your wives, mothers, and sisters have found in me the unexpected protection that you have refused them. You know, also, that many of those I have pardoned have turned against us again.

Before such ingratitude, such villany, it is not possible for me to be the man that I have been; there is no longer a place for a falsified neutrality; he that is not for me is against me, and that my soldiers may know how to distinguish, you hear the order they carry:

* American must not forget the execution in Mexico in 1848 of the Battalion of San Patrick &c. &c.

1st. Every man, from the age of fifteen years, upward, found away from his habitation, (finca,) and does not prove a justified motive therefore, will be shot.

2d. Every habitation unoccupied will be burned by the troops.

3d. Every habitation from which does not float a white flag, as a signal that its occupants desire peace, will be reduced to ashes.

Women that are not living at their own homes, or at the house of their relatives, will collect in the town of Jiguani, or Bayamo, where maintenance will be provided. Those who do not present themselves will be conducted forcibly.

The foregoing determinations will commence to take effect on the 14th of the present month.

EL CONDE DE VALMASEDA.

BAYAMO, April 4, 1869.

In the interest of Christian civilization and common humanity, I hope that this document is a forgery. If it be indeed genuine, the President instructs me, in the most forcible manner, TO PROTEST AGAINST SUCH MODE OF WARFARE.

MR. FISH to

MR. LOPEZ ROBERTS.

MAY 10, 1869.

"... protesting against THE INFAMOUS PROCLAMATION of General Count of Valmaseda,"—

MR. FISH to MR. HALE,

MAY 11, 1869.

"Measures of war are undoubtedly those adopted by General Count of Valmaseda; but they are not of such a nature as to revolt the feelings of humanity. Let the proclamation issued by General Count of Valmaseda be studied without passion, let the antecedents be recorded, and it will be seen that said proclamation does not even reach what is required by the necessities of war in the most civilized nations."

Leading article of the Diario de la Marina, Havana.

MAY 9, 1869.

Captain Generalship of the Island of Cuba, Staff. The drumhead court-martial, sitting at this place on this day, with the object of examining and judging into the process instituted against the civilian José Valdez Nodarse, for having uttered seditious words, has condemned him to six years hard labor in the cham-gang; and his Excellency in conformity with the opinion of the Auditor has been pleased to approve said sentence, but recognising, as the Auditor does too great lenity in the sentence, because it is not in accord with the regulations, codes and existing laws; he has ordered that the President and members of the Military Court may be sent to a castle to suffer the penalty of two months' imprisonment in the same.

Published by order of his Ex.

"With cheeks reddened with shame and hearts dripping blood, we confess, in view of what is now happening that foreigners are right. Africa commences in the Pyrenees, not the Africa of the Marochians, but the Africa of the Kaffirs."

Estado Catalan, Barcelona, August 9, 1869.

More than three hundred spies and conspirators are shot monthly in this jurisdiction. Myself alone, with my band, have already disposed of nine, and I will never be weary of killing.

Letter of Domingo Graiño, Captain of Volunteers, Villaclara, September 23, 1869.

We captured seventeen, thirteen of whom were shot outright; on dying they shouted hurrah for Free Cuba, hurrah for Independence. A mulatto said hurrah for Céspedes. On the following day we killed a Cuban officer and another man. Among the thirteen that we shot the first day were found three sons and their fathers; the father witnessed the execution of his sons without even changing color, and when his turn came he said he died for the independence of his country. On coming back we brought along with us three carts filled with women and children, the families of those we had shot; and they asked us to shoot them, because they would rather die than live among Spaniards.

Letter of Jesus Rivacoba, officer of Volunteers, Encrucijada
September 4th, 1869.

Not a single Cuban will remain in this Island, because we shoot all those we find on the fields, on the farms and in every hovel.

Letter from Pedro Fardon, officer of Volunteers to Rosendo Rivas, September 22d, 1869.

We do not leave a creature alive where we pass, be it man or animal. If we find cows we kill them; if horses, ditto; if hogs, ditto; men, women, or children, ditto; as to the houses, we burn them; so every one receives his due—the men in balls, the animals in bayonet-thrusts. The Island will remain a desert.

Letter from the same Pedro Fardon to his father, Sept 22, 1869.
